

6.

I claim:

1. A combination shoe and shoelace retaining device comprising of flexible wrapping retaining members, with an additional part being a flexible loop extension, with all parts being made of but not limited to, plastics, rubber, clothe, polyurethane, and synthetics, that will allow the device to be semi attached to the upper of a shoe.

2. A combination shoe and shoelace retaining device, comprising of flexible wrapping retaining members, with each member having a slot to allow insertion and interlocking of the member around the shoelace , with an additional part being a flexible extension, with all parts being made of but not limited to plastics, clothe, rubber, polyurethane and synthetics, while being incorporated as a part of the shoe itself.